Thinking Out Loud

By H. M. L.

The foreign scene, as has been often remarked, bodes no good for this country. Whether we have war or not, it is a safe bet that every citizen will be called upon for sacrafices without precedent in our history. When we entered World War No. 1, we were ,so to speak, fat. But after the war was done, and prodigious sacrifices had been made, for our own war effort plus loans to our associates in the conflict. we came out lean. Loans to foreign countries soured on us in course of time, so that as of 1928, our national debt was approximately 20 billions.

On the road to recovery in the early 1920's we developed such speed that we ran into a boom. When that collapsed in 1929 we nose-dived into a depression from which the New Deal attempted to lift us by more than doubling the national debt. Now in 1940, financially speaking, assuming that up till now we have been living on surplusses stored away in the good years, we scrape the bottom of the barrel. Economically considered the last eight years have reduced our corpulent Uncle Samuel to a living skeleton, but perhaps those years have been providentially conditioning us for worse times to come.

In the last eight years our taxes have been a little more than doubled. On a pay-as-you-go plan they should have been quadrupled but for any administration to attempt that would have been suicide. Income taxes have now been hiked to reach down to the $2,000 income of married folks and $800 for the single. Corporations also will have to pay a larger proportion of their earnings into the U. S. treasury. Congress on opening the new session in January is expected to bear down even more heavily, perhaps enacting some sort of sales tax or even a transaction tax.

Now we are rapidly approaching another crescendo in national industry and agriculture. Preparations for defense, for which some of the wasted billions of the last eight years might have been spent with a good effect upon the national economy, now proceed with more wasteful haste.

The need for extraordinary defense measures did not dawn on the American people until last June when the German army overran France. But we can hardly excuse the administration in Washington for lack of preparation up to that time, because with all the special avenues of information open, and with a big majority in Congress, it would have been comparatively easy for the president to have prepared the ground by a fire-side chat, and to have made a good beginning in national preparedness by appropriate measures in congress.

The hatreds which for political purposes the New Deal assiduously fostered for eight years now rise up to plague our preparations for defense. The dire need of quick and adequate defense has not brought cooperation between the workers and employers, as witness the strike at the Vultee airplane factories, nor between labor groups, as witness the annual conventions of the CIO and AFL. It would seem we are about to reap the crop that springs from the dragon's teeth the New Deal has sown.

There is one way, of course, of compelling peace among all factions and unity in the defense effort. That way is through the enlargement of federal power. The president can ask congress to increase his authority, already far greater than that of any head of a democracy in peace time, so that he can force an agreement among those his administration formerly abetted in their quarrels.

Since the election we have read and heard many professions of unity. But in the fortnight that has elapsed we have witnessed a re-opening of old wounds. Employers are still fearful of the administration's tax vagaries, and restrictive regulations. If contracts for munitions are written, for instance, to suit conditions regarding wages and taxes as of today, they wish to be sure they can complete these contracts with conditions unchanged. On the other hand labor, vigilantly watching the billions alloted to munition mak-

CHRISTMAS SEAL SALE OPENS TODAY

Letters To 3,000 Residents In County Placed In Mail

"Just how much can be done next year depends on the 1940 Sale of Christmas Seals. We must be able to continue our campaign to discover hidden cases of tuberculosis and to prevent the spread of the disease in Nevada County."

With that appeal, the Nevada County Tuberculosis Association today launched its 34th annual sale of Christmas Seals.

Envelopes Mailed

Envelopes containing Christmas Seal sheets and return envolepes for the convenience of the purchasers were mailed today to 3,000 persons in Nevada County. More will be placed in the mail later in the week.

Beatrice Bonner is the Seal Sale chairman. She desires especially to remind the purchasers of the seals to use them on their Christmas cards and packages. It not only advertises Nevada County but it shows an interest is taken in the prevention of tuberculosis.

Mrs. Bonner also states anyone who does not receive Christmas Seals in the mail can obtain them by notifying her.

The Christmas Seals will be on sale throughout the city during December for those who desire more.

The filling of the 3,000 envelopes which were mailed today was done by members of the Elementary Parent Teachers Associations of this city and Grass Valley.

Benefits of Seals

The letter sent with the Christmas Seals points out the following was made possible in Nevada County by the sale of seals.

1,340 girls and boys and contacts were tested.

500 chest X-rays were taken of positive reactors.

600 home calls on families of positive reactors were made to track down the source of infection. Help and advice were given to parents of reactors.

Hundreds of people received a better knowledge of tuberculosis and how to safeguard themselves against this disease.

Benefits Derived From Sale Of Seals Are Listed

Mann Is President

John Mann, general manager of the Empire-Star Mines, Ltd., is president of the Nevada County Tuberculosis Association. Superior Judge George L. Jones of this city is vice president; Bernice Glasson of Grass Valley, secretary; E. L. Dudley of Nevada City, treasurer; Dr. Harry N. March of Grass Valley, medical advisor and Mrs. Vera Ingram of Grass Valley publicity chairman.

With Cheers And Well Wishes Of Hundreds Ringing In Their Ears, Nevada County's Four Volunteers Leave For Year's Military Training

Nevada County's four volunteers for mililtary training and one from Sierra County left Saturday afternoon with the well wishes and cheers of hundreds of Nevada City and Grass Valley residents ringing in their ears.

Goodbye ceremonies for the young men, participated in by prominent citizens of the two communities, were held in front of the National Hotel here and at the Bret Harte in Grass Valley.

The Nevada County young men leaving for training camp were Ned Stewart, Harold Ray Christian, Wilmot Lee Hendricks and Clyde Merril Adams. The Sierra County youth is Arthur Shelton of Loyalton.

The farewell program in honor of the men here was opened with the playing of the Star Spangled Banner by the Nevada City High School band under the direction of Ralph Smith.

Commander W. W. Esterly of the Hague-Thomas-Hegarty Post of the American Legion, which sponsored the farewell ceremonies, then introduced the five volunteers. Also introduced were Dr. Walter Hawkins, R. L. Bigelow and H. M. Leete of the Nevada County Selective Service Board and Merle Morrison, clerk of the board.

Howard Bennetts, commander of the Banner Mountain Post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. was called upon for comment. He said along with many others from Nevada County he left under almost similar circumstances in 1917, only they were headed for actual conflict. He praised the volunteers for their willingness to be trained in the eventuality their services may be needed in the defense of this country.

Esterly then introduced Superior Judge George L. Jones, who in 1917 made the farewell address in this city to the first departing draft contingent.

Judge Jones praised the young men for their unhesitancy in coming forward to the defense of their country and hoped that those staying at home will be as willing to assist in the government's defense program as the departing volunteers.

Judge Jones called upon Commander Esterly, one of the men who fought in the World War, for a few words. Esterly expressed the need for preparedness but stated he hoped those now being trained will never be called to actual warfare.

County Recorder John Nettell played the Call to Colors on his bugle. This was followed by the playing of the Star Spangled Banner again by the high school band.

The contingent then was taken to Grass Valley for almost similar ceremonies. M. Henry Argall was the speaker at the Grass Valley services.

Approximately 200 gathered in front of the National Hotel and along Broad Street for the farewell ceremonies here. Several hundred took part in the goodbye ceremonies in Grass Valley.

The five then left by bus for Colfax, where they took a train to Sacramento.

Important Mine Suit Commences In Superior Court

COUNSEL IN EMPIRE-STAR VS. BUTLER ACTION INCLUDES MOST FAMOUS MINING ATTORNEYS IN WEST

The trial of the Empire-Star Mines, Ltd., suit against Cooley Butler and Wallace Butler, owner and general manager, respectively, of the Golden Center Mine in Grass Valley, opened in the superior court here today.

The trial, most important mine litigation in this county since the famous Champion Mine suit of 35 years ago, is being heard by Superior Judge Warren Steel of Yuba County.

Superior Judge George L. Jones of this county was disqualified to preside over the trial.

Many Noted Attorneys

Counsel for both the plaintiff and defendants are among the most noted mining attorneys in the country. Robert M. Searls of San Francisco, formerly of this city, William Colby of San Francisco, who has participated in the most important mining cases in the West during the past 30 years, and Frank Finnegan, local attorney, represent the plaintiffs.

The defense counsel includes Pierce Butler, son of the late Justice Butler of the United States Supreme Court and nephew of Cooley Butler; G. Allen Bisbee of Los Angeles and H. Ward Sheldon of this city.

Buwalda Will Testify

The expert witnesses scheduled to testify for the Empire-Star Mines in the action, which involves a dispute over the undergound workings of the Golden Center and adjoining Pennsylvania, property of the plaintiff, include Dr. Duwalda, professor of geology for the California Institute of Technology and Roy Hardy, noted mining engineer of Reno, Nevada.

Experts aligned with the defense include Harold F. Lynn, mining engineer and former superintendent of the Idaho-Maryland Mines in Grass Valley.

In the suit the Empire-Star accuses the defendants with deliberately using the Pennsylvania Mine facilities to dewater the Golden Center workings.

The plaintiffs seek both an injunction against the Golden Center operators and damages.

Kallenborn Action Dropped

Attorney Searls in his opening statement asked that the action against Fred Kallenborn, employee of the Golden Center, who was named a defendant in the original complaint, be dismissed. This motion was granted by Judge Steel.

The presiding judge also granted a motion by the defense for the amendment of the defendant's answer to the complaint.

The case will be watched with interest in mining circles throughout the world. Well known mining figures present when the trial opened this morning, besides the attorneys, included Cooley Butler, John R. Mann, general manager of the Empire-Star Mines, Harold F. Lynn, Fred Nobs, executive vice president of the Empire-Star Mines and William Simkins, Newmont mining corporation official.

EACH TRAFFIC CASE ADJUDGED ON ITS MERITS

Nevada City, Nov. 25.

Editor, the Nugget:

Without any intent of adverse criticism but with the desire to clarify the report in your good paper of my written decision in the case of The People vs. Fitzpatrick, I think it would be explanatory to add the following portions of the decision relating to the charge of "speeding," to that reported in the Nugget of November 21st:

"In these so-called 'speeding' cases, the court must and does consider in each individual case, where a plea of 'not guilty' is entered, the several factors prescribed by the legislature as constituting the elements of a violation of the basic speed law.

"If a person was driving on Zion Street between Sacramento Street and the city limits when school children were using the streets at crossings and if cars were parked closely on each side of the street or if traffic was heavy, he might properly be found guilty under Section 510 though he was traveling fifteen miles per hour or even less.

"There are places in this city where, according to the signs, a 25-mile an hour speed limit is applicable; yet, if the street is narrow, if pedestrian use of the street is obscured, if unusually heavy traffic is on the road or if any other element is present which makes a speed of 25 miles an hour dangerous to the safety of persons or property, such driver might well be found guilty of violation of Section 510, even if he was traveling less than 25 miles per hour.

"Conversely, under the present law, there are times and conditions when a speed of more than 25 miles an hour is lawful and an understanding of the basic principles of Sections 510 and 511 must be had and applied to this type of case. This applies to all prima facie speed limits but we are only concerned with those within a residence district in this case.

"If a driver of an automobile is committing an apparent violation it is within the discretion of the police officer whether to admonish him or to issue a citation to appear to such driver. The law provides a source of legal advice for all officers. Even after a citation is issued, unless it is proper, a complaint need not be filed. No criminal action can be commenced except by the filing of a complaint which is duly sworn to and of which the defendant is entitled to a copy on his arraignment. Without a complaint being filed, a defendant should not be arraigned nor enter a plea nor should any adjudication be attempted. If complaints are filed their allegations must be sustained to warrant a conviction.

"In this decision this court is guided by the adjudications of higher courts in this state that have heretofore interpreted the law on this subject.

"The theory and effect of the present 'speed' law was discussed by the Appellate Court of this state in the case of In Re Johnson, 6 Cal. App. 2d Series. in a consideration of Section 113 of the Vehicle Code in 1935. That section was substantially the same as the present Sections 510 and 511.

"In a case decided in March, 1940, by the Appellate Division of the Superior Court of Los Angeles County, interpreting the present Sections 510-511 of the Vehicle Code, espec-

Buy Christmas Seals

This year's Christmas seal appropriately pictures three happy children. At a time when the people are thinking of national defense and the future welfare of their country, the health and protection of our youth and future leaders is of paramount importance. The health of a nation is its first line of defense.

Tuberculosis remains the most serious health menace today. It kills more young people between the ages of 5 and 40 than any other disease. Yet it can be controlled and eradicated.

Between now and Christmas Day, through the sale of Christmas Seals, the Nevada County Tuberculosis association must raise sufficient funds to finance its work for another year. This work is not the responsibility of the association alone; the reponsibility is shared by every man and woman in this county.

This campaign should require no publicizing to win for it general and immediate support. For the past 34 years the Christmas seals have been sold to finance local, state and national activities to fight tubercuuosis. The work which has been accomplished requires no additional or repeated praise in these columns.

It is our privilege to buy Christmas seals and to use them By purchasing seals and using them we are helping to protect our homes and those of our neighbors from tuberculosis.

A Daughter of France

Last week, confirming the humiliating new tie-up with France's conquerors, the Petain-Laval government declared that "the choice has now been made, and every Frenchman must accept it," and warned against "insidious rumors" from England which would place obstacles before the new policy. Last week, too, a reply to that government, written by a French woman who dared not sign her name, was printed in Time magazine.

"Like so many others," she wrote, "I have lived since June 17 in grief and indignation . . . The same men who could not forstall anything, assume for themselves the honor of restoring France according to new formulas which they apply with the aid of our defeat. To this shame is added that of daily hearing the voice of the radio deride the courage, loyalty and dignity of the English in the forefront of the battle, who cover themselves with glory by resisting alone, and so manv betrayals. To the insults of wicked Frenchmen, the British answer with words of comfort and with acts which rekindle the hope of the other French people of France, of the other French people who are so much more numerous than one suspects—all of whom listen to the broadcasts of the BBC as if near a wide open window where pure air enters. We need to hear all these voices so warm, so confident, so familiar. English friends, Frenchmen in England, or the United States, speak to us, keep on speaking to us! Our confidence in you is enormous. It is a woman with white hair who writes to you—France will not die. Help her, we beg you! Vive le General de Gaulle; Vive la France!

An eloquent, impassioned daughter of France has not only flung defiance into the teeth of her country's despoilers and the taunt of their shame into the faces of base leaders—she has done more than any statesman to assure the English-speaking world that the France of Liberty, Equality and Fraternity is but prostrate, and will live again.—Contributed.

Debunking False Prophets

The country's self-appointed reformers have been telling us that advertising raises the cost of living. Let's see. Let's take an example that everybody is familiar with.

Cast your mind back to what you knew or what your parents knew of the automobile of the first few years of the century. Then a big, heavy, unreliable gas eater, could be bought, without top. windshield, horn or spare tire. for from $2,000 to $6,000. Few people bought this expensive luxury.

But automobile makers saw a vision, a nation on wheels. They advertised persistently. More people bought. As production went up, the cost to make each car came down. Part of the saving was put into improvement. Part went into continued advertising. Part went to the public in lower prices. Again more people bought these better cars for less money.

And so it went, year after year. Continued advertising, production and value up, cost and price down, until today you buy an infinitely better, more efficient car, complete, for less than half of the lowest price of a few years ago.

The same is true of the refrigerator, vacuum cleaner, the washing machine, oil burner, radio, electric light bulb; of packaged foods, clothes, and many another product that will come to your mind as you think this over. Advertising, says Nation's business, has helped mass selling and made possible mass production, which cuts the cost and brings the price within the reach of the average family—Nation's Business.

POLITICAL PARADE

BY CLEM WHITAKER

By JOHN W. DUNLAP
United Press Staff Correspondent

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 25.—(UP)—Statistics compiled by two state departments show that California is experiencing a busines boom which is not by any means confined to defense industries.

The department of employment reported its "active file" of men seeking jobs is down eight per cent from a year ago, and during recent weeks there have been several cases of temporary shortages in farm labor, a condition that has not occurred in California in many years.

John W Dunlap.

The department hastened to add, however, that there is no general labor shortage anywhere in the state, except in certain skilled trades needed in the aircraft and shipbuilding industries.

Perhaps the best indication of the business pickup is an 11 per cent increase in retail trade during the first six months of this year as compared with the same period in 1939. The comparison is made on the basis of state sales tax returns.

Officials of the department of finance pointed out that improved retail trade means that the improved conditions are pretty well distributed over the population and reflect increased employment and wages.

Other indices show similar gains for business, industry and agriculture. For instance, California farm income, as estimated by the U. S. department of agriculture, was 11 per cent higher during the first seven months of 1940 than during the same period last year. Factory employment was up 17.9 and payrolls 21 per cent for the first nine months of the year, while bank transactions showed a seven per cent rise over a 10 month period.

The greatest increase of all was recorded in construction activity. Building permits in 50 California cities totaled $212,000,000 for the first ten months this year, compared with $183,000,000 last year, a gain of 15.8 per cent.

For the month of October alone, building permits were up 53 per cent, totaling $25,400,000 in these 50 cities, compared with $16,600,000 in October 1939.

The greatest single factor in the business upswing, of course, is defense activity. The employment department received a report from the National Industrial Conference Board listing defense contracts totaling nearly three quarters of a billion dollars granted in California from June 10 to September 30, divided as follows:

Ship contracts $390,000,000.

Airplanes and parts, $305,000,000.

Construction and housing, $41,000,000.

The department said there are about 50,000 men now employed in the aircraft industry in Los Angeles county alone, more than double a year ago, and about 4000 to 5000 additional workers are expected to be hired between now and the first of the year.

The improved business has had a healthy effect on state finances as a result of increased tax collections, cutting the anticipated deficit for the current biennium from $31,000,000 predicted by Gov. Olson two years ago to an estimated $17,800,000.

Taking the last half of the biennium alone (the present fiscal year, which ends next June 30) the department of finance expects to show an actual surplus of about $2,500,000. A deficit of $20,200,000 during the last fiscal year will absorb the surplus, however, leaving the biennium as a whole still far in the red.

Also to be reckoned with at some future date as a carryover deficit of more than $38,000,000 accumulated over the last ten years.

The surplus indicated for the current year was brought about by a $6,215,00 drop in relief costs, as compared with 1939 estimates of Governor Olson, together with an increase of $13,500,000 in revenues over budget estimates.

Most of the credit for cutting the relief cost belongs with the legislature rather than the defense program because of new restrictions on relief budgets and eligibility enacted by the lowmakers this year. On the other hand a good share of the revenue increase is probably traceable to the business improvement.

"DR. KILDAIRE GOES HOME" OPENS WEDNES.

"Dr. Kildare Goes Home" moves the scientific thrills and funmakers of the Dr. Kildare series from the big city hospital to a country town in the latest of the Max Brand medical mystery pictures, now showing at the Nevada Theatre.

A small town "goes broke". Lew Ayres and Lionel Barrymore start a clinic with the aid of John Shelton and others. The natives object to health measures that would close swimming holes and old wells. There are battles and wrangles amid which Ayres and Laraine Day plan to elope. Then Citizen Number One is infected by the swimming hole. The young doctors, after a desperate struggle, save his life and the clinic rides to triumph. Treatment of a strange ailment, an emergency operation on an ironing board, hilarious comedy moments between Barrymore and internes and Alma Kruger, chief nurse, interlard the thrills and the romance.

Ayres plays Dr. Kildare more seriously than in former stories, Barrymore barks orders and draws laughs, and Shelton, a new discovery who "arrived" with Lana Turner in "We Who Are Young," handles his character skillfully. Gene Lickhart plays a neat character role as the gruff "mystery patient."

ers, and knowing from bitter experience that prices of living are bound to rise, demands a larger share of the gross earnings.

We see before us, then, a brief hectic prosperity due to defense preparations, if not war, in which a unified effort for preparedness may emerge as a result of federal compulsion. But that too, has a corrolary — price fixing. This expedient is already much dissussed in Washington. In fact in a limited amateurish way the president has already practiced price control. It will be recalled that he once remarked that the price of copper was too high and immediately the price subsided. Whether or not the copper price was too high we don't know. But the president thought it was, and the price went down.

We may therefore, expect compulsory arbitration of differences between workers and employers, and price fixing at the discretion of federal authority. This if you please, will be dictatorship. We have always had dictatorship in war time, but this will be another precedent making adventure for the New Deal. For it will be the first time we have had a dictatorship in times of peace. However, Chester Rowell declares, these are not peace times. He says that in practical effect we are already at war with dictators, Asiatic and European. One comfort we may find in this condition is that it will be our own dictatorship and not that of a "damned furriner."

CATHOLIC YOUTH ORGANIZATION TO BE FORMED

At a combined meeting of mothers and Knights of Columbus members, final arrangements for a Nevada City-Grass Valley Catholic Youth Organization were made.

Wednesday, November 27, was selected as the night for a joint social, dance and entertainment. Plans were formed and committees appointed by Milton Fisher G. K. to make this event one of outstanding merriment and fellowship. An entertainment under the leadership of Mrs. M. McConnell and Mrs. W. Sproul, will be followed by a dance. Dancing will continue until 11:00 o'clock. The evening's festivities will close with the young people participating in games and a buffet supper given by the mothers. Arrangements for the event and buffet supper are being made by Mrs. W. Curry, Mrs. P. Daley, Mrs. Fields, Mrs. A. McCrink, Mrs. G. Peterson and others. Decorations are under the guidance of a committee headed by Mrs Gillette.

The gathering on November 27, will serve as a get-acquainted dance and will precede the actual organization plans. The first week of December has been selected as the time of forming the youth of Grass Valley and Nevada City into clubs. Officers will be elected and a Constitution and by-laws ratified at this time.

To all persons interested in becoming a member in this group, to the parish as a whole, a most cordial invitation is exteneded to attend the November 27 entertainment and dance at St. Cecelia Aud. at 8:00 o'clock.

SKIER WHO BECAME LOST IN BIG BEND AREA FINALLY REACHES INDEPENDENCE LAKE

John Montgomery, 22, of Berkeley, a student at the University of California object of a widespread search by forest rangers and a ski patrol, after he was reported missing on a ski trip, reached Independence Lake Lodge late Friday night.

Alone, Montgomery started out cross country on skis to Independence Lake from the Sierra Club lodge near Big Bend. He left a note at a ski hut he intended to ski to the Truckee Sierraville road and then hitchhike back to Big Bend. When Montgomery failed to arrive back by Thursday night, his friends became anxious about his safety and notified Ranger John Hodgson at Big Bend, who organized a searching party.

Reaches Lake Lodge

The group searched all day Friday and located his tracks leading toward Lake Independence. The ski patrol went to the Lake Independence Lodge and were preparing to ski back toward Big Bend in an effort to find Montgomery when he reached the lodge.

Montgomery was none the worse for his experiences. He said he slept Thursday night in a lodge at White Rock.

Ranger Hodgson said it is likely Montgomery, a member of the Sierra Club, one of the largest recreational organizations in the state, will be suspended by the club for venturing on such a long trip alone.

Hodgson stated it is an unwritten code of the Sierra Club that none of its members ski alone. Ranger Hodgson said if Montgomery, a novice skier, was injured death would have been just a matter of several hours because of the extreme cold.

The district traversed by Montgomery was the same area in which Hans Weissing, an experienced skier, met death last winter. Ranger Hodgson said Montgomery's act should further convince winter sports enthusiasts of the danger of skiing alone.

STATE HIGHWAY DEFENSE NEEDS 150 MILLIONS

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 25.....(UP)—State Highway Engineer C. H. Purcell estimated today $150,000,000 worth of work is necessary to bring California's highway system up to the standard needed for national defense.

In contrast, Purcell said there will be slightly less than $20,000,000 available during the next two years with which to make necessary improvements.

"The appalling inadequacy of the funds which will be available for highway improvement is clearly seen," Purcell commented.

The highway engineer pointed out that California's regular federal aid appropriations for the next biennial budget have been reduced 25 per cent, which places an additional burden on the state in meeting defense demands.

The federal government will furnish a total of approximately $10,400,00 in regular federal aid, federal aid secondary and federal aid grade crossing funds. The state will provide about $8,900,000.

One of the most vital problems, Purcell said, will be construction of necessary by-passes around metropolitan areas. Troop and supply movements can not be jeopardized by meeting congested traffic in urban bottlenecks and ample provisions must be made to eliminate any such possibilities, he declared.

Other major items in bringing the highways up to defense standards, Purcell said, are widening and strengthening bridges to handle expanded traffic, including heavy tanks if necessary, and widening and the strengthening roads to facilitate the troop movements.

He added that his $150,000,000 estimate is for improvements to the regular highway system alone, and approximately $11,000,000 more will be needed for construction of access roads to the several cantonments, naval and military establishments planned for California.

It is possible that the federal government may make special appropriations for the access roads, Purcell said.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wilson formerly of Truckee have purchased a home in Grass Valley where they will reside. Mr. Wilson for many years was connected with the Hobart Estate.

STATE BUDGET PREPARING FOR LEGISLATURE

By NEWTON STEARNS
United Press Staff Correspondent

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 25.—(UP)—Talk at the Capitol during the past week was all of balanced budgets and surpluses, in sharp contrast to the gloomy financial picture which existed only a few months ago.

A major factor in the fiscal improvement is the national defense program, which has caused a general improvement in business, thereby increasing the state's revenue from such sources as the sales tax, corporation franchise tax and other levies.

The sales tax alone has increased in recent months at the rate of more than $10,000,000 a year.

An indirect result of the defense program has been a sharp drop in the relief case load, which together with economies in operation of the SRA ordered by the legislature, cut relief expenditures during the last three months approximately $5,000,000 below the same period of the previous year.

Marriage Vows Exchanged By Elma Eden And Carl E. Baker At Ceremony In The Methodist Church Yesterday Afteenoon

Before a prettily decorated altar in the Methodist Church here, Miss Elma Louise Eden and Carl Edward Baker, yesterday afternoon at 1:30 exchanged marriage vows.

The ceremony, performed by Rev. David Ralston, was attended by many relatives and close friends of the popular local couple.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Stephen Eden. Her attractiveness was additionally exhilarated by a beautiful white satin wedding gown, brocaded, with matching white veil. She carried a bouquet of gardenias and white bavardia.

Mrs. Lois Davies, attired in a gown of purple and orchid and carrying a bouquet of pink rosebuds, attended her sister.

Mrs. Grace Solaro sang, accompanied by Mrs. George Hitchens at the organ.

The bridegroom was attended by a life-long friend, James (Cap) Davis.

After the ceremony, the couple were given a reception at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Charles Eden, in Indian Flat.

Following the reception they left for Los Angeles on a week's honeymoon trip. Mrs. Baker was attired in an attractive brown outfit, with brown accessories, for the going-away trip.

The couple will reside in the Robson Apartment on East Broad Street upon their return.

The bride, who had been employed at the Penrose Grocery as a bookkeeper, is a graduate of the Nevada City High School and the Mt. St. Mary's Academy of Grass Valley.

Baker, employed at the Lava Cap Mine, is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Baker of this city. He also is a graduate of the Nevada City High School and attended the Sacramento Junior College.

EACH TRAFFIC

ially as relating to city streets, the court found that:

"There is no law which makes the speed of 43 miles per hour, even in a 25 mile zone, of itself unlawful, and such a speed, to be unlawful, must offend the basic speed law expressed in Section 510 of the Vehicle Code, which prohibits driving at a speed greater than is reasonable or prudent, having due regard for the traffic on, and the surface and the width of, the highway, or at a speed which endangers the safety of persons or property."

The present speed law may sound fearful and complicated to a person not familiar with the law. I believe that motorists are entitled to a clear and understandable explanation thereof. It may be expressed as follows: An officer is within his rights in issuing a citation if he finds a person violating any of the prima facie (at first sight) speed limits specified. However, if a defendant, on appearance, can establish that he was not violating any of the provisions of Section 510 he must be found not guilty. The language in the Los Angeles case is concise and applicable to all "speeding" cases.

Respectfully,
MILES D. COUGHLIN,
Judge of the City Court.
